ASK ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old boy who needs your help as bad as any grownup who ever wrote to you.

My aunt used to be a beauty operator (around the time of King Arthur, I think). Anyway, Aunt Myrtle moved next door to us last month and it has changed my whole life. Mom has decided she isn't going to send my kid brother and me to the barber anymore because it costs too much money.

Aunt Myrtle cuts her own kid's hair and Mom says her haircuts are good enough for anybody. So now Aunt Myrtle is cutting our hair, too, and it is just a crime what that woman can do with a pair of scissors. After yesterday's haircut a girl asked me when I was going to the electric chair.

Mom has a wild temper and doesn't take any mouth off us kids so please be on my side and put this letter in the paper. The advice will have to come from you, not me. Thanks for your help. — MISERABLE MICHAEL

Dear Mike: No 13-year-old kid should be forced to walk around with a home-made haircut that embarrasses him. Tell your mom — excuse me, I'll tell her:

Give the boy a chance to earn some extra money by doing errands and chores around the house. Then he can buy his haircuts from a barber and things will be a lot quieter around your place.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter Emily is 23 years old and employed in a large office. She lives at home and we know she is a pure, God-fearing young woman.

A divorced girl works alongside Emily and from what we have heard, she is an evil person. This divorcee comes to work late and leaves early. She gets her supervisor to doctor up her time card and collects full pay for part time work. She makes it up to the supervisor by joining him for drinks after office hours.

This woman talks to the younger girls in the office about things they shouldn't even be able to understand.

Although Emily makes good money and has been employed at this place two years I feel she should change jobs. I'd rather have her employed among decent people and make less. What do you say — CONCERNED MOTHER

Dear Concerned: Leave Emily alone. The world is filled with all sorts of people. If you've raised your daughter properly, you don't need to worry.

The next office might have two "bad" women and maybe even a "bad" man.

P. S. Mother, I can't imagine what it is that a 23-year-old "should not even be able to understand." The more she is able to understand, the better. The ones who DON'T understand get into trouble.

Dear Ann Landers: I was amused by the letter from the friend who wanted to know why a "handsome, respected, successful man would leave a beautiful, talented, accomplished woman for a crude, cheap, ignorant tramp."

Your reply was that "perhaps the crude, cheap, ignorant tramp filled a need in the man that the beautiful, talented, accomplished woman did not." It was a good answer, Ann, but I think I have a better one.

Maybe the "handsome, respected, successful man" was also a smart fellow who knew the difference between "dignified acquiescence and wholehearted cooperation." — J. A. H. OF SEATTLE

Dear Seattle: You win. Your answer is better.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

B&PW Club Hears Report On Meeting

One of the Highlights of the August meeting held Tuesday night at the VFW Club of the Hazard Business and Professional Women's Clubs was the report of the National Convention recently held in Washington, D. C., and attended by eight of Hazard's members.

Mrs. Jake Kimberlin, the only Gold Card holder displayed her Gold Card crested invitation sent by Mrs. Pearl Mesta, Washington's "hostess with the mostest" for a tea given in her swank co-operative apartment home, Sunday afternoon, July 25, honoring the "1964-65 Gold Card Members" of the National Federation.

Mrs. Kimberlin had procured five club members during last year which entitled her to a Gold Card Membership. A Washington society reporter, Wauhalla LaRay wrote of the tea, "the women from all over the nation were outfitted in their best bibs and tuckers, color ensembles in all yellow, all blue, turquoise or red, with one bright lavender stole."

They were served tea and coffee by Mrs. John Sparkman, Mrs. Dale Miller, Mrs. Barbara

Party Honors

John M. Hunt

Hazard Tackles Pete Moore And Company At Mt. Sterling In 8 p.m. Recreation Bowl Tilt

by OSCAR COMBS

Hazard's bowl-hungry Bulldogs invade Mt. Sterling Saturday evening in the second game of a double-header in the Recreation Bowl for an 8 p.m. grid-iron tilt with the intention of upsetting Class AA power Hopkinsville as former Hazard High great Astor "Cat" Sizemore makes his coaching debut as head coach.

The Bulldogs will be taking on one of the top teams in the state according to pre-season polls as the Hopkinsville squad is led by the famous senior high school All-American half-back Pete Moore.

Using the "I" formation, the Hopkinsville team builds their offensive attack around the famed half-back who runs, passes, and punts when necessary.

two massive tackles totaling 433 pounds of muscle. Seniors O. J. Rowe (224) and C. V. Cooper (209) spearhead the Bulldogs into one of the state's toughest schedules which includes Louisville Flaget, Belfry, Whitesburg, Lexington Lafayette, and Lexington Dunbar.

Assisting Rowe and Cooper in the line-up will be senior guard Larry Combs (193) and sophomore guard Butch Morgan (180).

Should you be looking for "Fourth of July" fireworks in August, then look no farther. With the passing combination of junior quarterback Houston Hogg to brother Freddy Hogg and Don Frazier, the air will be filled with footballs come Saturday night at Mt. Sterling.

Assisting Sizemore in the coaching duties this year are Fred Stidham, Newt Greene and Jack Carey.

Coach Sizemore

Hopkinsville also owns two big tackles in Robert Tillman (209) and Tony Ricks (215). Heading what could be one of Hazard's finest teams are

Louisville Male Chosen As State's No. 1 Team

Louisville Male polled 13 first place votes to be picked the best high school grid team in the state by United Press International's Kentucky Board of Coaches preseason football poll.

Perennial state power Fort Thomas Highlands didn't receive any first place votes, but accumulated enough votes to wind up second with 144.

Other schools picking up first place nods were Hopkinsville, 5, and Louisville St. Xavier and Flaget one each.

1. Louisville Male (13)
2. Ft. Thomas Highlands (144)
3. Hopkinsville (5)
4. Louisville St. Xavier (1)
5. Louisville Flaget (1)
6. Hazard (43)
7. Thomas Jefferson (41)
8. Mayfield (39)
9. Henderson (35)
10. Paducah Tighman (35)

1st-place votes in parentheses: 11. DuPont Manual (30); 12. T. Owensboro and Lexington Bryan Station (23); 14. Harrison County (21); 15. Lexington Henry Clay (19); 16. Murray (18); 17. Ashland (17); 18. Clark County (15); 19. Madisonville (9); 20. Lexington Lafayette (8).

Others: Louisville Trinity (7); Belfry, Bowling Green and Louisville Seneca (6); Eastern (5); Middlesboro (3); Madison (2); Butler County, Caldwell County, McKell and Mt. Sterling (1 apiece).

Navajos Host Eagles At Napier Field Friday Night In Home Opener At 8 p.m.

By Arlis Fields

Local fans get their first taste of football tomorrow night when the M.C. Napier Navajos open their 1965 home season with the Leslie County Eagles in an 8 p.m. battle at Napier Field.

Leslie County has a new coach this year in Wendell Adkins, who moved over from Wallins after Robert Igo left Leslie to take the head coaching job at Lyon Camp High School.

The Eagles have 34 boys out for the grid sport and according to Coach Adkins, "We think we have come a long way."

Adkins is high on his half-backs Dean Begley and Eddie Howard. "They have both done a good job," the coach commented.

Kenny Keen and Martin Sizemore head the Eagle linemen, running at the tackle slots.

Randy Moore has taken over the quarterbacking duties from the graduated Mike Caudill.

Adkins said of his opponent for his first game, "That McAlarnis boy is a real fine runner and Kenneth Finnison impresses me at tackle."

Adkins is looking for a real fine ball game from both clubs in tomorrow's contest.

From the Napier camp two noticeable changes have occurred in the Navajo starting line-up for this weekend. Archie Sizemore, 6'2", 175 lb. junior, has taken over the end position from freshmen Dewey Finnison.

Kenny Ballard, a 155 lb. sophomore, has moved into the starting backfield in place of Calvin Beatty. Ballard will be running opposite his brother George.

The rest of the Navajos starting contingent remains the same with Tommy Brock joining Sizemore at end, Kenneth Finnison and Briscoe Combs at tackles, Mike Combs and Charles Bankston at guards, and Wayne King at center.

The backfield will have Jim McAlarnis, Bobby Parsons and the Ballard brothers.

Leslie County's boss was not sure of his offensive starting eleven but he did give out with the defensive lineup for tomorrow.

The guards will be James Asher and Terry Bowling, tackles will be Keen and Sizemore, corner linebackers will be Randy Moore and Denzel Howard, inside linebackers are Homer Morgan and Lonnie Rice, middle linebacker is Eddie Howard and the deep men will be Dean Begley and Dale Moore.

Napier's Charles Hall has his boys back at top spirits after last week's bumping off at Wheelwright.

The Navajos ran through brisk workouts yesterday with plenty of hustle.

The Redskins will have 30 boys in uniform for the home-folks tomorrow night.

Bernice Hiser Wins Award In Ballad Writing Contest

By Bernice T. Hiser

First of all, folks, I want to thank the Herald editors, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nolan, and the judges of the ballad writing contest for liking my ballad and for the nice prizes.

I would also like to thank all my fond readers as this will be my last writing until next summer.

My father, W. E. Terry, and my daughter, Susan, who will be a junior at North Derborn High School, Guilford, Indiana, where I will be librarian, are starting to Indiana this Thursday.

We will live at Logan Crossroads with the same family we have lived with for the past four years, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Lyness of Harrison, Ohio, Rt. 3.

The summer has been a wonderful one but too soon over and we hope to write again for you someday.

It will be good to get back on the payroll, in Indiana the teacher is given a choice of earning his pay in the nine month period or having it spread over the full 12 months.

School got off to a big start on Squabble and in the rest of the county on Monday, Sadie Creek Flood, Leo Allen's new Riley and Linda Ellen Stammer are the teachers on Middle Squabble Creek.

Hiram Turner, a graduate of Buckhorn High School, is teaching his first school on Otter Creek.

Mrs. Grace E. Jones of Lost Creek, our sister, is in Miners' Memorial Hospital.

We visited her Sunday afternoon and found her improved, see you next summer.

but she will not be out for several more days.

Bertha Jones of Lost Creek is just out of the same hospital. James Whitaker of Blue Diamond is in the hospital after a light stroke. He is in an oxygen tent but is much improved.

Mrs. Joyce Baker Butler of Tennessee has been visiting her uncle, Virgil Baker and family at the Agency farm.

Mrs. Erwin Plummer visited Mrs. Sadie Riley Rutherford last week, telling of their plans to leave Buckhorn.

Mr. Fred Riley and son were here last week looking about his house next to ours. It stands vacant while he lives in Seymour, Indiana.

Miss Helen Cain has spent the summer with her sister Phyllis in South Carolina.

Mrs. Minta Stammer Morris and daughter Millie Ann visited the Hisers on Saturday. Mrs. Morris is a real story teller, giving us an account of how "whoop for Larry," just over the hill from the head of Squabble got its name.

Quite a number of changes have taken place in Buckhorn this summer: the Squabble Creek Flood, Leo Allen's new Riley and Linda Ellen Stammer Gaubard moving away; The weddings of Phyllis Cain and Lorene Johnson; the unemployed fathers building a new toilet for Irvin Morris; the new flood control dike by the side of the road, and many others.

We regret to leave where so many entertaining and odd happenings take place but we will see you next summer.

CHRISTOPHER

Ohioans Visit Relatives Here During the Week

by Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Sr.
Mr. Donnie Lewis has returned to his home in Dayton, Ohio, after a visit with friends and relatives here.

Mrs. George Moody of Ohio was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Corless Reeves Thursday and Friday.

Word was received here by Mr. and Mrs. George McPherson that their son, Eugene, who is with a landscaping company near Washington, D. C., has been injured by a hose. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Carlen Byrd and daughters, Percilla and Joanne, were weekend guests of relatives in Lexington, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newberry of Ohio spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Abe Newberry. Mrs. Newberry, a recent bride, will be remembered as Miss Bette Hurt, a former resident of our town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mareum and little daughter of California are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Newberry. They are also visiting relatives in Vico.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dixon of Dayton are spending their vacation here with relatives and friends. John is another one of our hometown boys who left "the hills" for the big city and is making good. Much success is hoped for him. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Dixon.

Miss Karen Fritts was one of the group of the Rainbow girls of the Hazard assembly that spent Tuesday evening in Jenkins for an installation service. Karen is "Worthy Advisor" of the Hazard group. The group will be in Corbin Saturday evening for a meeting.

Freddie Reeves and Billy Shackelford spent the weekend on a hunting trip.

Several of our young people are attending the "Youth Revival in Hazard at the Maple Street Church.

Kentucky Natives Plan Homecoming

The Kentuckians of Michigan, natives of the Blue Grass State, will hold their annual picnic at Capitol Park, on September 5, 1965. Capitol Park is located on Telegraph Road, north of Sibley Road, near Southgate, Mich.

Featured will be a large variety of country music, rock'n roll and some of our top vocalists also included will be a fiddler's and bango contest.

The guest speaker will be Attorney James L. Clay of Lexington, Kentucky.

So, if you have friends or relatives in Michigan, drop them a line and remind them about the picnic. Better yet, make the trip yourself and plan to spend an enjoyable day with your friends from Kentucky.

Readers may contact the secretary's office for any additional information. Bobbie Williams, Secretary, 21001 Westover, Southfield, Michigan.

OUR READERS WRITE

Overloaded Coal Trucks

Dear Editor:

I have been reading your paper with much interest and concern, and especially about the conditions in some of those places down there that are being victims of strip mining. I have here something which I do hope you will print in The Hazard Herald, it might be called, (10 days in Sassafras, Ky.)

From July 14th to July 26th, I was in the little village of Sassafras, Ky. in Knott County. If this seems like a contradiction, I arrived there on the 14th and left on the 26th. During my short stay there I observed things which I never realized could actually happen in that place. First let me qualify the remark, short stay, I had intended to stay for the Combs reunion, but under the conditions I wouldn't even qualify for either of the two general themes—Combs family, or coming home to Kentucky.

Now to get on with the frightful mess that met my eyes at Sassafras.

As I set on a porch most all the time while down there counting the big overloaded coal trucks, watching them exceed the speed limit which is 35 and should be no more than 20, but I actually saw these big trucks making 45 mph through this little narrow town. I saw them with the beds loaded with more coal than could stay on them, the coal was piled far up above the bed and even directly over the cab of said trucks.

I saw blocks of coal fall off the trucks barely missing some small children who has no place to play except the narrow shoulders of the road, and when these trucks meet they take most all of both shoulders. I measured the road, which is Ky. 15 and found it to be 18 ft. across. The dust from these trucks is terrific, both the loaded and empty. The noise is so burdensome, from said coal trucks, they run all night and all day. I had practically no sleep while in that town, the dust covers the porches of houses it goes through the screens into the houses, it settles on people, to stay clean means bathing every day—when there's only enough water for Saturday, and it's muddy.

While in Sassafras I saw some of the dirtiest clothes hanging on lines where the coal dust had settled on them while wet, they really needed to be washed again. Let me say of the people of Sassafras, it is my personal opinion that they are unaware of the circumstances in their town, I believe it has gradually crept upon them, and that they have no idea how this little town looks to the outsider, in my case, I had been gone eight years this time from Kentucky so I could see at first glance what had happened in that eight years, it has very definitely gone to something worse than the dogs, it has gone to the auger and stripping operators, unless something is done to stop them, (and I can't see where any wheels are turning) (except truck wheels).

Where and when will this awful thing stop. These people are innocent by-standers, the people of Sassafras does not realize anything out of these operations except the terrible and many disadvantages from their muddy water, their sleepless nights, their dusty houses, the fear for the very lives of little children in the street, the problem with washing and drying clothes, the fear of getting run down by a coal truck, yes these and many other things that I could number, saying nothing about the things I might have overlooked in that ten days proves to me that these people are victims of circumstance.

Writer Overseas Says People At Home Should Up Their Patriotism

A Letter From The Fighting Front

"... Has everyone forgotten the basis that this country was founded on? Or don't they teach that in our colleges and universities today? ... I have always regretted that I didn't attend college first instead of going into service, but now I'm not too sure. I would hate to think that I had the outlook on life and would so willingly turn down responsibility as students over the country today are doing.

"They are making a mockery of everything that true Americans believe in today. When they protest the war in Viet Nam and policies of our Government leaders by picking the White House, burning their draft cards and doing many other disgraceful and unpatriotic things, it only shows their lack of learning and understanding. They don't know what they protest, or even care whom or what it hurts.

"I realize they are only a small percentage of our young students, but if let to grow could be our entire country, for the youth of today will govern the world tomorrow.

"Most of this is caused by fear. No one wants war or to die in a far land that has little meaning to their lives.

"This is not so. We over here know what we're fighting for. It isn't like the Korean War. We know now that we must fight Communism anywhere over the world where it threatens free people that are depressed, poverty stricken and that are being eaten alive by the Communist machine. Not only for these reasons, but for our wives, families and even our forefathers that have died before us.

"We are over here now trying to do our job as we know it but it is hard to have faith and fight for what we know to be right when people at home have no faith and aren't backing us as they should. Sometimes we wonder if you even care about us or yourselves.

"Everyday some of our shipmates fail to return to the ship (USS Midway), but they go each day knowing that if they die we will carry on to win over Communism in the end.

"We left our comfortable homes, our wives and families to spend lonely endless days at sea, our only comfort the fact that someday we'll be able to return in peace, for a while anyway.

"We sacrifice everything dear to us some even their lives. Is it too much for us to ask and expect that you at home have faith and back us just a little?

"We are the ones fighting now and we're not complaining about it. Are people so afraid that they might be asked to fight a little for what (if anything) they believe in?

"There isn't any one of us here who wouldn't like to change places with any student back home, but we believe in freedom. Doesn't anyone else believe in freedom any more?

"Everyone wants peace, but to me it matters a great deal the price I have to pay for it. How long can we expect to have peace and freedom at the expense of countries like South Viet Nam if we turn our backs on them?

"When I started this letter I was angry, but now I have compassion for those who believe that peace is good no matter what they have to do or what rights they have to give up to get it.

"If we follow this line of thinking we'll soon have nothing else to lose and will be lost and buried by Communism, for there will be nothing else to hope, believe, or fight for.

"Has our morality dropped so low? ...

"We'll do the job. You just give us some support and we'll all be fulfilling our job. Give us back our faith in the American people again."

Alice Lloyd Students Assist In Program

PIPPA PASSES, Ky. — Fanning out from picturesque Alice Lloyd College here into such communities as Hollybush, Dark Hollow, Hurricane Gap, Upper Caney, and 11 other centers in four counties, about 48 college students serving as instructors, have carried out what appears to be a unique community action program in recreational and cultural enrichment and advancement. For the past week these students have met to talk over what was accomplished and how they can improve the program next summer. A big barbecue will close their program on Saturday, August 21.

The main benefactors of this 6-weeks program have been school children in the 6 to 16 year age group who might have otherwise spent the summer in idle, unproductive activity. The college students, however, feel that they have gained indescribable experience in working with children.

Sponsored by Alice Lloyd College, directed by Prof. Bruce Taylor, and financed by the Office of Economic Opportunity, this program was originally written up for 200 children in Leslie, Knott, Letcher and Floyd counties. According to Director Taylor, however, it opened with an enrollment of around 600 and proved to be so popular with both children and parents, it is winding up with nearly a thousand.

Although this added number stretched finances and equipment to the breaking point, Taylor said "we just couldn't turn them down."

The program was carried out by students from Alice Lloyd, Morehead State College and community colleges at Cumberland, Prestonsburg, and maybe other places. It consists of daily classes from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. wherein children receive instruction in such subjects as arts and crafts, music, folk music and folklore, and reading. Under close supervision, the children also indulge in various forms of recreation like volleyball, badminton, basketball, and softball. With each of the 15 centers having from two to four instructors, the children were kept busy, happy, and entertained while learning. Aside from recreational benefits and valuable teaching experience, the college students who are paid for their work, took the jobs in order to pay college expenses when they return to school this fall.

In speaking of the program being unique, there are, of course, many recreational programs for young people being conducted here and there by various agencies, both civic and governmental. But, according to Prof. Taylor, this program here is a little bit different. It goes beyond the usual entertainment and combines recreation and cultural advancement.

Through the medium of folk music, art, craft, and story the children, perhaps for the first time, were given an insight into the accumulated experiences of their ancestry which in common definition is culture. Through this knowledge greater pride in both ancestry and country is stimulated — something that is always a good thing.

Although originated and sponsored by Alice Lloyd College, several agencies such as the Council of Southern Mountains and the Eastern Kentucky Resource Development Project have served in advisory capacities. It is a little too early to begin a serious evaluation of the project, but Prof. Taylor has seen enough good already coming out of it to start planning for another like it next year. From the evidence at hand, there is one thing a program such as this can do — it can become a potent weapon in the war against juvenile delinquency.

Speech therapy is a special program related to this summer program, which is just now really getting started at Alice Lloyd. Two young college graduates in speech therapy, from Eugene, Oregon have come to work and already find in one neighboring county 400 children needing treatment, with 40 of them needing emergency treatment. Through the schools and health departments of the area these children will be brought to Alice Lloyd for treatment.

National Red Cross Aids Squabble Creek Families

Claude Isaacs, Chairman of the local Red Cross Chapter, reported today that the six, teen (16) families in the Squabble Creek area affected by the flash flood July 24, were assisted in the amount of $2,759.00 by the National Red Cross Chapter recently.

Mr. I. H. Buchanan, Disaster

Chairman for the Perry County Red Cross Chapter, called the national office after the flash flood and reported the damage.

The National Chapter sent a disaster representative Miss Jane Clay Sutherland, to interview the people involved.

Assisting Miss Sutherland were Mrs. Allie Gorman and Mrs. I. H. Buchanan Jr.

The funds were used for gardens that were destroyed, furniture, clothing and tools that the people used to repair and to earn their living.

This is the third time in the past ten years that the National Red Cross Chapter has helped the residents of Perry County, due to floods. The

A Property Owner's Story

SINCE STARTING

This column a sad thing has happened to the family of Mollie Morgan her youngest son Jack has passed to that great beyond. Many of you knew Jack, he loved to fish, even this spring and summer he made various efforts to get on the streams for a little each time he felt like it. He had that dreadful disease Cancer. May I speak for all of you Jack's friends to his bereaved wife and other members of the family, to express along with me our great sorrow in this hour of your beloved one, I know that the loss to you is so much greater than to any others, may you trust in the powers above for a greater condolence than any person here on earth can give.

Knowing Jack as I did, we grew up as children and neighbors, it becomes more obvious as the years go by how many of our friends and loved ones must make this trip of no return. May you be blessed you of the family in these trying hours, that you alone must know the deep agony.

Agree Or Not

I Say What I Think

By A. G. VAN CUREN

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Tax rates will be the chief topic of interest to legislators and the public alike in the special session of the General Assembly convening here Monday evening.

Although important, this is not the only crucial question to be considered that can profoundly affect the future development of the state. The tax rate problem is a flexible one but there is danger and chance ahead in the constitutional revision question.

This special session will consider passing a measure to put a question of calling a limited constitutional convention on the ballot. This will then go to the regular 1966 session for its second required passage before it can be put on the ballot in November 1966 for a decision of the people.

This would provide a third route to present the recommendations of the Constitution Revision Assembly to the people for their consideration.

The regular 1964 session of the General Assembly gave first passage to putting the calling of a general constitutional convention on the ballot and will come up for second passage in the 1966 session.

The third route is submitting recommendations of the Constitutional Revision Assembly direct to the people on the ballot for their ratification. This third route falls under Section 4 of the Constitution, and has been strongly supported by Atty. Tom Waller of Paducah all during sessions of the Constitution Revision Assembly that started its work in February 1964.

Assemblymen reacted coolly at the beginning to Waller's proposal, but he has been winning supporters through the months to his idea. This would give the people the earliest and most direct decision on changing the constitution.

The long, drawn out process of amending the constitution can be a continuing story until 1970 if the people authorize revision at the polls when the question goes on the ballot.

If the Section 4 route of submitting the document direct to the people is not used, here is the process.

In November 1966 the people will vote on two questions on the ballot, the calling of an unlimited constitutional convention, or the calling of a limited convention. In either case, an election would have to be called to elect 100 convention delegates, one from each House District.

They would meet, consider what is before them, and submit recommendations to the 1968 session of the General Assembly. Conceivably the convention could get its work done in 1967.

The General Assembly would then consider the recommendations, give the final polishing to a proposed new constitution, and submit it to the people in November 1968 if the work could be accomplished in that time. If the people approve, probably a special session would be required in 1969 or the regular session in 1970 would redraw all the statutory sections to conform with the new major document.

There has been some talk of proposing a limited session question this time—limiting the delegates to vote "yes" or "no" on acceptance of recommendations submitted by the Constitutional Revision Assembly. This would be an expensive process and limiting the powers of the delegates. There also has been some consideration given to limiting the delegate work to certain fields, thus giving them some more authority. Opposition has risen within some citizen ranks against the strictly limited process.

Admittedly, a great many citizens want the constitution revised, but there is potential had comes from Roscoe Walker and his three boys on a trip to Fleming County they bagged twenty two and one ground hog opening day. The next best one comes from John Dykes and his son in Pulaski County, near limits for the first two opening days.

Tommy Grigsby and his pals says they didn't do too well in the Red River of Powell County where they have been going for many years. Tommy states that he killed a rattler with many rattlers and a button on its tail, which was somewhat over five feet long. I would say this would stop a lot of us from squirrel hunting and start snake hunting.

This hot and dry weather will make the snakes as well as other creatures of our forests start eeking water, so let me urge you to be on the lookout for them. I would suggest that you secure your self a snake bite kit. Clear your camping area of brush and etc. keep one eye peeled on the ground, at least until we can get a good soaking rain. Boys I would say your hunting is going to be rather spotty until we do have rain. In the meantime don't give up. I believe this will be one of the finest seasons we have ever had. I have found another way to clear the path that you should be traveling in, that is to cut about a six foot limber switch and just the under growth in front of you, if a snake is there he will run, remember he is as much afraid of you as you are of him.

danger of defeat in the route the General Assembly chooses. Any regular or special called session of the General Assembly can consider and adjust tax rates, but constitution revision can be considered once only every five years. That's the danger.

Thru the Years

Quotations from Herald stories of yesterday, reporting THIS WEEK in our history.

1915

Hazard has a destiny to fulfill—that of being the leading city of Eastern Kentucky—and no one had inhabitant is going to prevent it. Much of the plank sidewalk out into the Backwoods has become old and very faulty. If the Town Council can do nothing toward improving this, let the citizens set to work and do it. Mark what many of the good citizens along Broadway have done in the matter of sidewalks. Get busy men, get busy!

1923

The long looked for installation of the new telephone system in Hazard is now a reality. The crew putting in the new and modern light telephone system has been busy all week testing and approving phones and now all except about forty of the telephones in the city are connected with the new board. There are about 550 phones in the city now and within a few days the Hazard Telephone Company expects to have every one of them in perfect working order.

Since the system now in operation is quite different from the one formerly in use, the Hazard Telephone Company suggests that all of its patrons observe the following instructions:

1. To call Central, remove receiver from hook.
2. Do not shake your receiver after giving the operator your call, as this will automatically disconnect you.
3. Do not ask operator to ring party again as the apparatus rings your party automatically every few seconds until they answer.
4. Do not replace the receiver when you are calling a party to the phone, as this will disconnect you.

Hon. A. B. Chandler, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, will speak at the court house in Hazard at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Appearing at the Hazard appointment with the Lieutenant Governor will be Hon. Bailey P. Wootton, of Hazard, who has pledged his support to Mr. Chandler.

Workers on WPA jobs in Perry County will be paid as follows: Unskilled labor, $24 a month; intermediate labor, $36 a month; skilled labor, $48 a month; professional and technical, $53 a month.

Harlan Fuller Jr., private first class, Infantry, United States Army, has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in Combat from July 4, 1944 to May 2, 1945 in the Italian campaign. Despite fire from enemy sniper, PFC Fuller kept firing his mortar on Monticelli to aid in stemming a German counter attack. He entered military service from Emmalana.

EDITORIAL

War Of Brothers' Blood

Perhaps the worst thing about the strip mine controversy, the thing that makes the battle so regrettable, is that people who normally have the most in common are sided against each other.

The necessities of the conflict have pitted the small farmers, the house owners, the school teachers and the retired pensioners against the strip mine industry's employees: truck drivers, heavy equipment operators and people in the mine services and supply.

The fact that these folks are in some cases close relatives yet still were opposed to each other at the Frankfort hearings Wednesday makes the strip mine dispute almost literally a war of brother's blood.

On the one hand we have men and women who feel the new regulations are necessary to keep their private property from being destroyed, while on the other hand we have men, in many cases the cousins and nephews and even the sons of the land owners, who fear their jobs will be eliminated if the regulations are enforced.

Both, of course, have legitimate fears. As things stand, the small property holders are as helpless before the onslaught of the bulldozers as the strip mine employees are helpless in the face of the industry's threat to pull out of Kentucky, taking the payroll with it.

The truck drivers and the operators of heavy equipment, and the sales personnel of the supply and mine service companies acted as any of us would have acted when they went to Frankfort Wednesday. Their actions were taken for the sake of their jobs, on behalf of their families, and no one can blame them.

But as difficult as it is to argue a position that could make it tough on these good working men, still there are larger issues that must not be lost in the immediate glare of the threat to existing jobs.

Why do the young workmen want to keep their jobs, anyway? The answer is simple: they are ambitious. They are willing to work, and they are skilled. They want to make a better life for their children. They want to save money to send their kids to college.

They also no doubt want to work hard enough and long enough so that some day they can own their own homes, their own pieces of land, where they can plant their own gardens and maybe keep a little livestock.

In short, they want to create, by the sweat of their brows, a place in this world that they can call their own, where they can some day retire, eventually passing on their property to their children.

These are wonderful ambitions. They are very similar to the ambitions that motivated a previous generation of mountain folk.

All over these mountains, on Clear Creek in Knott County, on Lost Creek in Perry County, along Cumberland River valley in Harlan County, in scores of creeks and hollows all over the Kentucky mountains, there are people who lived and earned according to the same willingness to work that the young strip mine employees now show.

Through the years, that hard work and personal sacrifice resulted in something. It resulted in modest accumulations of property that today represents the investment of entire lifetimes for thousands of people, just as the present work of the young truck drivers and the bulldozer operators will, we hope, some day result in similar accumulations and consequent personal security for them.

But now, the property those people worked for all their lives is threatened with damage and perhaps destruction because of strip mining. Understandably, they want to save their land, just as the workers want to save their jobs.

There is no way of telling at this point just who is going to win and who is going to lose in this stark conflict. Both sides are lobbying strongly in Frankfort, even in Washington. It is a fascinating war, and Wednesday's hearing in Frankfort was a fascinating battle in that war.

It was also sad, because the employees of the strip mine industry who made such a strong showing in Frankfort apparently do not realize that in the long run they are only lobbying against themselves. For if the strip mine industry wins, then they have helped establish the precedent that some day in the future is going to allow some other industry, or perhaps some government, to invade and destroy the private property that the men are now working so hard to accumulate.

A job is necessary for the working man. But every thing has its price, and eventually the bill must be paid.

Jim Bailey's Fight Is Our Fight

James Bailey, operator of Bailey's service station and restaurant in Walkertown, has begun a fight that deserves the support of all of us here in and around Hazard.

He is trying to get the State Highway Department to recognize and correct the impossible situation that exists because of the hopelessly outmoded bridge on Route 15 near M. C. Napier High School.

Built for traffic of three decades ago, the bridge is so narrow and ill-conceived that local motorists have been cursing it since their cars have had the ability to go more than twenty miles an hour.

The mere design of the bridge makes getting onto it an intricate chore. Because of its ill-conceived structure, and the angle at which it lies to the highway, more luck than skill is needed to get on and off the old thing without scraping the sides, or worse.

Every day monumental traffic jams occur when school buses of necessity load and unload children near the school, and the bridge.

But it represents more than an inconvenience and a nuisance. Its blind entrances make any automobile crossing it a threat not only to other automobiles but to school children, as well. Vision is limited. Maneuvering space is limited. The old bridge represents limitations of everything modern traffic requires, but it supplies danger and confusion in abundance.

The businesses in the neighborhood are not helped by the situation either. That is why they are the first who are obliged to respond to Mr. Bailey's appeal for support in his effort to bring about an improvement. Then the rest of the citizens are obliged to follow their lead.

The new, modern highways now coming into the region will be wonderful for travel over longer distances. But we have settled along the older roads, and for the sake of an efficient community we need to get the Lotts Creek bridge rebuilt.

Why Indiana?

Those Perry Countians who know of Chester Cornett and his remarkable chairmaking talent were of course quite pleased that Indiana University thought enough of his work to want to study and record for posterity his processes and some samples of what he does.

Educational Television

In 1962, the Kentucky General Assembly authorized the establishment of a statewide educational television network that would provide service to every school district in Kentucky and would reach every man, woman, and child.

In 1962, Governor Rex Lee, of American Samoa, a Polynesian Island, requested general operating funds for such a system from the U. S. Senate. It is now in operation and has received much praise.

Mrs. Mildred Cobb, a Kentuckian who is the supervisor of Television Instruction in Samoa says, "Here, and in parts of Kentucky, too, perhaps, mountains, water and even culture itself cut the people off from the world beyond." That is, it did in Samoa until an educational television network was established.

In a land thousands of miles away, ETV is a reality. Kentucky must not pass over this great educational aid. For a minimum of cost, the Kentucky ETV network could be on the air by 1968.

As Roy Eversole, superintendent of schools at Hazard says, instructional television is the only hope of a rural school system to offer courses and instruction comparable to those offered in richer areas."

For Mr. Cornett's sake we can be glad that he is receiving this kind of attention. Photographs of him at work on various stages of chairmaking will go on display in the IU Museum of History, Anthropology and Folklore, as well as some of his actual chairs. That his products will take their places in the museum beside items of similar interest from all over the world is a fine reward for Mr. Cornett's patient and skillful craftsmanship.

But while we can share with him his glow of pride in this recognition, we should ask ourselves why it took some Indiana folks to show this kind of interest and appreciation in so talented a Perry County man.

Why isn't the University of Kentucky interested in Mr. Cornett, and the scores of other mountain folks who embody the best of our traditions?

Why isn't the State of Kentucky as interested as Indiana in preserving this heritage, and coming to the aid of those mountain people who still practice old skills at considerable personal sacrifice?

The University is not interested, and the State is not interested, because, frankly, we Perry Countians are not interested. The University and the State only reflect our own smug unconcern with such worthwhile things.

Until we become willing to take a real interest in people like Mr. Cornett, an interest that involves a visit to his home near Dwarf, and a commitment that results in purchasing his products, then whatever embarrassment, and even shame, that Indiana causes us is well deserved.

To The Editor:

I own a home between two steep hillsides on the Big Fork of Lotts Creek. I also own a tract of land on the left hand fork of Big Fork and in the head of Clear Fork.

About two years ago, a representative of strip mining operations came to my home. He was buying a right of way to get coal out of the mountains. He said there would be very little damage done. They would go regardless. If I didn't sell they would go anyway. After thinking about it and talking it over with the family we let them have the right of way.

Now it makes me sick to look at my land. A nice orchard of more than twenty-five trees is no where to be seen. Thousands of dollars worth of timber is under the rocks and trash pushed down by machinery. On top of the mountains all you can see are acid wastes and stagnant pools which will be there for a hundred years. With the heavy rains beating down on these bare hillsides what will hold the soil? Where will it go? What will happen to these pools? The poor people in the valleys will be covered with the filth leaving no farm land to grow crops. What will people do with no hillside or bottom land for farming. (They certainly can't live for long eating only elderberries and crabapples.) There is no possible way to restore the hillsides, and if there were, how would they put the nice fertile top soil back in place when it is hundreds of feet down the hillside.

This is just a small portion of the damage being done to our beautiful mountain scenery. How can people sit back and say, "Come to visit beautiful Eastern Kentucky". If we as citizens don't do something, who's going to? We have been asked to respect the law. Where is the law we're supposed to respect?

Now the coal operators are trying to take over the rest of my farm. (The farm on which my father lived and reared his children.) They're trying to cover up a nice pasture which I have just gotten built up, with the help of ASC. If they do this it would also cover up my family cemetery and another small cemetery on the same hillside, also what bottom land I own. Do people think I'm going to sit and let this happen? I don't intend to sit idly by and see the resting place of my ancestors covered by spoils from the strip mine destruction. This is my home. I have lived here all my life and plan to live the remainder of my life here. If the state and local officials don't wake up and see what's happening and do something about it, then we as citizens are going to have to. We have to live as well as the coal operators.

They yell out to save jobs and industry. They don't realize their jobs mean destroying what the other people own. What about the industry they're destroying in Eastern Kentucky? Timber, farming, and tourist attractions are being destroyed. The coal they take out does nothing here. It is being transported elsewhere. The few dollars they pay in wages is all that is left for the millions they are taking out.

If nobody is going to help us, then we have but one choice, help ourselves.

If the leaders of our country can't make a sensible judgment, may God help us in our distress.

The Country's Undesirables

Editor:

There is a lot of things Un-desirable that this Country could very well get along without, like Black Muselams, The KKKlax Klan, Knoxies, and all such as would take candy from a baby. Bigots, Pest, Parrasites, that think they are smart, and don't know anything as they should know it. But regardless of color what will make one man better than another is good Conduct. And then the modest mannerly law abiding man is better than a drunkard liar, or thief.

Political Parties and Taxation

Dear Sir:

Economists have a term they call regressive taxation. The more regressive the tax the more it hurts the poor and helps the rich. A graduated income tax which forces those who make big money to pay a higher percentage of tax is not a regressive tax. A payroll or sales tax, which makes everyone pay the same percentage, is.

Generally, the Republican Party, which is the big money party, favors regressive taxation while the Democrats are against it.

This policy of soak the common folks to make the rich richer holds true among Kentucky Republicans. The Republican Party now wants to cut the state income tax still further. It isn't much now.

This sounds like an appealing platform — to cut taxes. But look at what it really means. If the state income from this source is cut, the money would have to come from somewhere else. The Republicans would, I suppose, add another percent on the sales tax. This would shift more of the tax burden on the common folks and allow the high income class to avoid paying its share.

All of which helps the rich to buy more cocktails, caviar and canapes. But it makes it hard on us folks who need the money for bacon, eggs and bread.

I hope the Democrats can stop DeMarcus, Ball and their rich friends.

Kentucky's Taxes

Dear Editor:

I get so tickled when I read about people who say they're going to sell out in Kentucky and move to Ohio if their property is assessed at fair cash value.

I hope a lot of them do. The average property tax bill in Ohio is $112.25. In Kentucky, it's $47.54.

Let 'em go. They'll soon be back. I know. I tried it once myself — out of Enorence. When they pay moving bills both ways, they'll find out it's a pretty expensive lesson.

Glad-to-be-back,
Alvin Nowacek
Covington, Ky.

P. S. They'll also discover that a lot of people who have bought a home here in the past 20 years will get their taxes lowered under the "fair" cash value assessment.

Residents Attend National Conference of Brethren Churches In Ashland

By Rowena Collins

Recent guests at the Krypton Bible Center were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cline and grandson Tray of Sharpsburg, Maryland. Mr. and Mrs. Lavelle Harner and son Craig of Vinco, Penna. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hallinger of New Lebanon, Ohio. Mrs. Nola Couch, Browns Fork. Miss Grace Goodell, Homeplace, Miss Martha Fugate, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Real from Milledgeville, Illinois.

Mrs. Beulah V. Lowery of Hagerstown, Maryland, has returned to spend the winter with her daughter, M. E. Lowery.

Miss Connie Jameson, Miss Bonnie Starliper of St. James, Maryland, Miss Alice Oburn, Miss Carol Bailey, Pleasant Hill, Ohio, Miss Delma Cabaugh, Miss Audrey Coleman, Vinco, Penna., have all returned to their homes after assisting with Vacation Bible School at the Krypton Bible Center for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tracy and Rex McConahay attended the National Conference of the Brethren Churches in Ashland, Ohio through the week of August 16-22. M. E. Lowery was unable to attend the conference because she has not fully recovered from accidental injuries received May 2. This was the first conference she missed in 17 years.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. App Eversole over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Napier, Jr. and family from Harlan and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Eversole from Lotts Creek.

David Clark Collins left Tuesday for Riverside Christian Training School where he will attend school this year.

Mrs. Katie Belle Lewis was admitted to the Appalachian hospital Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Combs had visiting them for several days Mr. and Mrs. Mark Campbell and daughter from Middletown, Ohio. Mrs. Campbell is

Mr. Combs' daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Abner and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Abner and family of Knoxville, Tenn., visited Mr. and Mrs. William C. Collins Monday.

School started Monday in our school with an enrollment of about one hundred and ten. We take this opportunity to welcome our three teachers Mrs. Fugate, Mr. Fugate, and Miss Fugate (no relations) to our fair town.

LEGAL NOTICE
HEARING

PROPOSED HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Pursuant to Section 128 of Title 23 of the United States Code, a Public Hearing will be held Tuesday, September 7, 1965, at 10:00 A.M., EST, at the Hazard Memorial Gymnasium.

The purpose of this Hearing is to afford all interested persons affected by the construction of the Hazard - Isom Road, beginning near the intersection of East Main Street between Spring and Park Streets in Hazard, Kentucky, extending in a southeasterly direction to Isom, an approximate distance of 22.6 miles, an opportunity to express their views concerning the economic effect the improvement will have on the community. The construction will be grade and drain with high type surface for two driving lanes and necessary passing lanes.

Preliminary sketch maps for this project may be seen at the Jackson District Office of the Department of Highways prior to the date of the Hearing and also at the Hearing.

Yes, The Bible Has a LIVING Witness

It may sound absurd to say this about a collection of writings prepared so many centuries ago.

For in that space of time every living thing on earth has been repeatedly replaced. Empires and whole civilizations have run their course and disappeared. Who, then, could possibly be still around to bear living witness to events so remote in human history?

The answer is, of course—the Catholic Church.

The Church has been carrying on its work of salvation for years before the New Testament writings were completed. And from the very beginning the sacred texts were in her custody and were used in her ceremonies. When the time came to decide which writings were to be accepted as divinely inspired, it was the Church which made the official decision.

For more than a thousand years prior to the invention of printing by movable type, all copies of the Scriptures were laboriously hand-made by monks and scholars of the Catholic Church. With the perfection of the printing process in 1440, one of the first and certainly the most famous publication of the time was the Vulgate version of the Catholic Bible—the celebrated Gutenberg.

Not all Christians agree exactly in all their interpretations of the Scriptures. But all can agree that the Bible is the inspired word of God... that the New Testament presents the life and teachings of Jesus Christ. For we have in the Catholic Church, a living witness to prove it.

Being responsible for the formation of the New Testament, and as custodian for the Old, the Catholic Church can provide a great deal of interesting and helpful information about the Bible. We have put some of this into a pocket-size pamphlet which we will be happy to send free to any Bible lover who requests a copy.

It contains a short story of the Bible... explains why the Catholic Bible contains 46 Old Testament books, inherited from the Jews, and 27 New Testament books, which the Church approved as inspired... gives you solid reasons why you can believe the Bible, but why the Scriptures are not easy to understand... tells you what Catholics believe about the Bible and how they use it.

You can get your free copy of this interesting pamphlet by writing your name and address on the accompanying coupon and mailing it today. You can study it in complete privacy and without obligation. If it raises any questions in your mind and you want additional answers, we will be glad to supply them. But nobody will call on you.

Fill in the coupon and mail it today. Just ask for Pamphlet No. KC-3.

TAKE YOUR FAMILY TO CHURCH THIS SUNDAY

My Wage

I bargained with Life for a penny,
And Life would pay no more,

However I begged at evening
When I counted my scanty store;

For Life is just a employer,
He gives you what you ask,

But once you have set the wages,
Why, you must bear the task.

I worked for a menial hire,
Only to learn, dismayed,

That any wage I had asked of Life,
Life would have paid.

in your plans!

That new home you're planning to build may well be the biggest investment you and your family will ever make. That's why you should be sure it's equipped with automatic heating and cooling through a flameless electric heat pump.

There's nothing more modern. An electric heat pump creates a constant indoor climate... maintains the precise temperatures you desire all year around. It filters the air you breathe, too, and during hot, humid months removes excess moisture.

We call the total result Comfort Conditioning—year around indoor springtime electrically.

And, a heat pump will help protect your new home investment by keeping it modern for years to come. Put a flameless heat pump in your plans. You'll find it's economical to install and operate. For complete details, stop by or call our nearest office.

Missing Plane Hunt Continues In Rugged Area Near Hazard

The search continues today for a single engine plane believed down in the rugged mountains near Hazard. The plane on a flight from Danville, Illinois to Grundy, Virginia, was last heard from last Wednesday.

London Airport had last contact with the pilot, Jack Stockdale, around noon on Wednesday. At that time Stockdale reported that he was 30 airmiles west of Whitesburg and that he would land at Hazard if weather conditions prevented him from landing at Grundy. Two other persons were aboard the plane, Paul Bennett, of Danville, Illinois, a Church of Christ Minister and Dale Coleman of Perryville, Indiana. The Rev. Bennett was reportedly going to Grundy to seek financing for some improvements on his church building. Perry County Rescue Members and The Civil Air Patrol searched all through the weekend but as yet have drawn a blank as to the whereabouts of the missing green and white plane.

Jerry Feltner, P.C.R.S. Captain and Jim Grady, captain of the CAP unit from Louisville handled the ground and air operations yesterday. Searchers were out early this morning checking numerous reports from residents in the Bonnyman to Chavies area as to where the plane went down. At last report the Perry County Rescue Squad, a State Police Trooper and Perry County Chief Deputy Sheriff Ed Farler were on Rock House Branch, near Typo, checking out a rumor that the plane had been seen in that section.

Radio contact with members of P.C.R.S. had been lost but the trooper and deputy sheriff had gone to lower Second Creek late this afternoon to check another report. Members of the families of the three occupants were at the Hazard Airport yesterday and expressed their gratefulness to all the searchers. According to Feltner the P.C.R.S. will continue to search the rugged area around Hazard until the plane is found.

A Civil Air Patrol plane is also reported missing on a flight out of Grundy in search of the downed plane. According to CAP officials the pilot had not refueled at his scheduled point and had not reported in at any other airports in the area late last night.

State Police Raids Produce 7 Arrests

One of the most active local organizations over the weekend was the Kentucky State Police. The "Thin Gray Line" pulled off raids in Leslie and Letcher Counties with a total of seven arrests being made.

The first raid was made in Letcher County at the American Legion Hall at Pine Mountain on U.S. 119.

Arrested and charged with possession and selling alcoholic beverages in local option territory was Oakrey Morgan of Letcher County.

Taken in the raid were: 1,660 cans of beer, 15 fifths of whiskey, and 146 1/2 pints of gin and whiskey.

The second raid was pulled off at George Tolliver's Grocery at Neon Junction. Arrested here was Billy Paul Tolliver on a charge of possession and selling.

Confiscated in this raid were 15-1/2 pints of whiskey, and 147 cans of beer.

State Police also arrested James Combs on the Knott-Letcher line for having 110 cans of beer in his possession. The Leslie County raids netted three arrests and a good load of drinks.

The first raid there was at Ed Gibson's Grocery at Bear Branch where 102 cans of beer and 4-1/2 pints of whiskey were found.

PERRY MAN ARRESTED AFTER CHASE

A Perry County man, Walter Turner, of Busy, was arrested late last Thursday night near his home on two charges.

Turner was placed in Perry County Jail charged with driving while under the influence and possession of untaxed whiskey.

Turner had 12-1/2 gallons of moonshine whiskey in his possession when the arrest was made.

The 56 year old Turner was taken before a federal commissioner on the untaxed whiskey charge on Saturday and ordered to appear in federal court at Jackson in October.

Lothair To Receive Garbage Collection

The Office of the City Manager announced today that the residents of Lothair will begin receiving garbage collections Thursday of this week by the City of Hazard.

The Office also stated that all citizens of the City of Hazard living in private residences, on streets and alleys which are accessible to the city's Garbage Collection Service, be and the same are hereby directed to place all garbage in suitable garbage cans and place said cans along the said streets and alleys of the city at places where they can be reached by the city's trucks and other equipment used in the Garbage Collection Service; that each patron of this service may use more than one garbage can for this purpose when necessary; that each apartment be treated and considered as one residence and the people living in each apartment use and maintain one garbage, placing it where it can be reached by the city's employees.

The charge for each home and each apartment is $1.00 which will be added to the monthly water bill.

Food Stamp Coupons Issued To 44,777 Persons in 10 E-Ky Counties

The Kentucky Department of Economic Security issued USDA food coupons to 44,777 persons in ten eastern Kentucky counties during July, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The recipients, from 9,001 low-income families, were issued $597,436 worth of the food coupons. Counties having food stamp programs in July were Breathitt, Floyd, Johnson, Leslie, Knott, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Owsley, and Perry.

The amount of coupons issued during July was about $3,000 less than was issued during June and about $6,500 less than issued during May.

The participating families in the ten counties bought $310, 248 worth of the total coupons, and received $287,188 worth free of charge. The free coupons help the participating families buy more and better food at local stores.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service says the food stamp program put more than $287,000 into the economy of the ten-county area during July. The boost to the economy of each county last month was: Perry, $50,200; Floyd, $43,700; Knott, $36,400; Breathitt, $28, 700; Letcher, $25,500; Magoffin, $24,100; Leslie, $23,000; Johnson, $21,800; Martin, $20,900; and Owsley, $12,800.

Food coupons were issued to 7,766 persons from 1,462 fam-

Editor Names Oscar Combs To Herald Staff

Mr. W. P. Nolan, Editor and Publisher of The Hazard Herald, announced today that Oscar Combs has joined the Herald staff as news and sports writer.

Mr. Combs, a native of Perry County, attended Dilce Combs High School at Jeff and Cumberland College at Williamsburg, Kentucky, before accepting the position with the Herald.

He worked as a sports correspondent with The Courier-Journal for four years and sports writer during the summer with the Herald for two summers.

Mr. Combs was employed by Cumberland College the past year as News Director and Assistant Director of Public Relations while working on his B. A. degree in English.

He is married to the former Donna Alexander of Lothair. Mr. and Mrs. Combs will reside at 720 Eversole Street.

Whisman Speaks To Development Councils At Robinson Substation

Speaking before representatives of seven Eastern Kentucky area development councils at Robinson Substation here last Tuesday, John Whisman who as an assistant to the Governor has figured so prominently in the Appalachian Development Program, told the group that the State of Kentucky never had such an opportunity to benefit economically, socially, and otherwise as it has now.

Referring to his own efforts and the efforts of many others in getting this program for Appalachia underway, he told the council members they were involved in a game in which they helped to write most of the rules.

"We now have the tools," he said, "to make projects happen and the technical help to produce good results. Now we must have unified planning, leadership, and a development of new criteria that will meet the specifications of new and old government programs."

In speaking of planning and of studies, Whisman said he was aware that this area had already seen much of these activities, but that most of the information secured by past studies and surveys was incomplete and the kinds of knowledge needed at this time unavailable.

"It's no longer necessary to find out how many trees there are in Eastern Kentucky," he said. "What we need to know is where we can sell those trees. This development philosophy has produced Kenwood, a timber management processing-marketing complex which gets at one of our basic opportunities."

Terming the meeting as a briefing session for next year's work which starts right now, Whisman urged council members to start studying and planning immediately in order to eliminate confusion and become better qualified to deal with all new federal legislation. "Make your program plans as big as your problem," he advised, "and write up having each one qualify as an integral part of the whole."

Attending the Eastern Kentucky meeting from the Upper Kentucky River Area Development Council were: Chairman George Wooten; Rufus Fugate M. K. Eblen; Steve Sandlin, Jr.; Alta P. Banks; Mary Pauline Fox, MD; Austin Hays; Charlie L. Whitaker; A. D. Mattingly; Paul Keen; Donald Rouark; George G. Besore; Andy Roberts; Dewey Hendrix and Ed Ehresman.

Soil Conservation Report Says 574 Essays Written By Students

PERRY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT ANNUAL REPORT (FY-1965)

We, as supervisors of the Perry County Soil Conservation District, submit the following report of the district for fiscal year 1965.

During the 13th year of operation of our district in Perry County, 30 new cooperators were added to the list of landowners and operators attempting to help conserve our soil, water, and natural resources. The total number of cooperators in the district is now 622.

These 622 cooperators operate 53,082 acres of land which is a large per cent of the better agriculture land in Perry County. Of this 53,082 acres, 334 cooperators operate 19,840 acres and now have a basic conservation plan in operation on their land.

A basic conservation plan means a landowner or operator is working toward a complete program of soil and water conservation on his land, using his land within its capability and treating it according to its need.

During the year the Board of Supervisors met once a month to administer and direct the business of the district. The Supervisors, with the help of all the Agriculture Agencies in the district, revised and up-dated their long range program of work, which had been so badly needed for some time, and signed a revised Memorandum of Understanding with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Some of the more permanent type conservation practices carried out in the district (Perry County) were tile drainage on the farms of Dan Milton, Zack Duff, Estil Cornett, Elmer Eve-sole, Sam Stidham, Phillip Hall, Jerry Allen, W. G. Baker, and Everett Campbell; sod waterway on the farm of Eugene Combs; timber stand improvement on the farms of Elsie Noble and Quinton Isom; fencing to protect woodland grazing on the farms of Farmer Asher and Wannie Alsip. A large amount of the land in the county is too steep and unproductive for pasture and crops and is best suited for the production of timber. Tree planting continues to lead all other conservation practices applied in the district. A total of 805,000 tree seedlings were set by landowners and operators during the spring and fall planting season. Some of the landowners and operators that set trees last spring were: August Angel, Don Blair, Dewey Caudill, Asbel Cornett, Charlie Combs, Dewey Daniel, Hazard Coal Corp., Montgomery Creek Coal Corp., Clarence Maggard, Bert Stollings, Kentucky River Coal Corp., Virginia Iron Coal and Coke Co., and Sam Kilgore.

A relatively new method of securing a supply of stock-water is the development of farm springs and seeps. We, the Perry County Supervisors, believe that this is an excellent method that has been overlooked by many farmers within the district. Michell Allen, A. L. Miniard, and Andy Williams did an outstanding job developing springs for livestock water this past year.

Cooperators in the district are finding that money invested in maintenance treatment of old pasture is of great benefit in solving our soil and water conservation problem. With ACP assistance, many farmers have been able to treat old pasture and establish new cover.

The district was represented at the area meetings that were held during the year and at the State Association Convention. Denver Miniard and W. F. Hall represented the district at the State Convention held at Cumberland Falls State Park. The district received a nice plaque as area winner in the annual Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company Awards Program.

The district continued publishing a newsletter bi-monthly, which was made possible by local business establishments sponsoring it. Sponsoring the newsletter this past year were: Perry County Farm Center, Citizens State Bank, Hazard Television Company, Chappel's Dairy Incorporated, Perry Furniture Exchange, Peoples Bank, Army Goods and Dollar Store, and Pet Dairy Products Company.

The district again actively promoted the Courier-Journal Essay Contest and gave second and third prizes. In addition to this contest, the district sponsored a Junior Essay Contest for elementary students of the county, giving $10.00 first prize, $7.50 second prize, and $5.00 third prize.

Five hundred and seventy-four essays were written by students of the county. The winning essay was written by Carolyn Fields of Hazard High School, second was by Delora Davidson of M. C. Napier High School, and third was by Jane Holliday of Hazard High School. The Junior Contest was won by Elizabeth Barret of Roy G. Eversole, second place winner was Danny Martin of Combs Grade School, and third place winner was Roger Cornett of Walkertown Elementary. We wish to thank the superintendents, principals, and teachers in Perry County who helped make this essay contest a success.

Contributing to the success of the district program during the year in addition to many individuals and groups were: The County Extension Service, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee and Clerks, State Division of Forestry,

State Division of Fish and Wildlife, State Division of Soils and Water Resources, Perry County Fiscal Court, and County and City school personnel. We are very grateful to the editors of the Hazard Herald and Radio Station WKIC for their cooperation in telling the people about the district activities.

The Soil Conservation Service furnished the district one farm planner full-time and one soil scientist part-time. We wish to express our appreciation to our Work Unit Conservationist, Clay W. Ratliff, and other members of SCS for valuable assistance rendered to the district. The Work Unit Conservationist was of great help in supplying information for this report.

The grant-in-aid by the state to Soil Conservation Districts and a grant from the Perry County Fiscal Court made it possible to continue the services of a district clerk part-time, to help keep necessary records for the district. This was very helpful, allowing the technician to spend more time in the field assisting cooperators in planning and applying conservation practices.

We are looking forward to 1966 and anticipating improvements in all phases of conservation accomplishments and close working relations with all agencies serving Perry County SCD. Supervisors of the Perry County Soil Conservation District are Denver Miniard, Chairman, Astor Johnson, Vice-Chairman, W. F. Hall, Secretary and Treasurer, and William D. Gorman and Elson Holliday, members.

Respectfully submitted, Denver Miniard Chairman, Perry County Soil Conservation District

Neighborhood Youth Corps Director Addresses Local Kiwanis Group

Vice President Elmer Campbell presided over the last Kiwanis Club meeting, in the absence of President, and also acted as Program Chairman, Tuesday evening, August 17, 1965 at Don's Restaurant.

He presented, Percy Combs, Director of the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program of Perry County, who addressed the group. "The Anti-Poverty Bill is passed, and is here regardless of criticism," said Mr. Combs. "The money will be sent in here and we might as well accept it, and perhaps benefit thereby. There is no use fussing and fuming, the school program has been completed, was one of the fastest in Washington."

Mr. Combs cited several persons, organizations, public utilities, and services who profited by the assistance of young folks and student workers. Among them were the Police Department, Fire Department, Paul Keen, County Agent, City and County Governments, sheriff's office, and non-profit organizations of various kinds.

The program includes youngsters between the ages of 16-21, who were considered "needy". In the out-of-school program, there were 199 enrollees the first week. Chief Luttrell is training 7 boys. Many were part-time workers, such as 5 librarians, in the Bobby Davis Library. Some are training with the Fire Department as Firemen, some with the water department and sewage disposal. They are valuable assistance, for instance in the Police Department, it enables patrolmen to devote more time to their beats and to guiding traffic.

The Business and Professional Women's Club, Garden Club, Mayor's Office, Circuit Judges' Office, Vico and Lothair Highway Departments, Federal Housing and Vocational Schools are helping College students on vacation. One hundred and fifty of these are in the out-of-school program.

Mr. Robert Brashear, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brashear and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Brashear attended graduation exercises at Cumberland College in Williamsburg on Saturday evening.

Robert Brashear and Mrs. Keith Brashear were among the graduates.

Mr. Lacy Combs and son Johnnie of Dayton, Ohio, were the guests last week of Mr. Combs' mother, Mrs. Nettie Combs.

They returned home on Friday, taking Mrs. Combs with them. The Combs were planning to attend the World's Fair.

Capt. J. A. Creech Is Helicopter Pilot Employed As Math Teachers

Marine Captain Jimmie A. Creech, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Creech of 502 Moorland Ave., Hazard, Ky., is a helicopter pilot with Detachment "A" of Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 161 which operates out of a strategic airfield at Qui Nao Viet Nam.

The detachment supports the 2nd Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment, 3rd Marine Division which guards the air field.

They lift troops, food, water, medical provisions, and ammunition to small Vietnamese hamlets and remote mountain outposts. They have taken Marines on several strike missions and have worked with Army Special Forces units in carrying both men and supplies to their distant outposts.

Many times during evacuation missions men and aircraft of the detachment must operate under heavy fire but their operations continue until all Marines and equipment are safely picked up.

Prior to operating in Viet Nam, the detachment was based at Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.
